MILITARY SPECIFICATION

TUNGSTEN POWDER

MIL-T-13827 (Ord), dated 7 December 1954, is hereby cancelled. Future acquisitions for this material should refer to appropriate sections of ASTM B777-87, entitled; "Standard Specification for Tungsten Base, High-Density Metal", ASTM E159-86, entitled; "Standard Test Method for Hydrogen Loss of Copper, Tungsten, and Iron Powders", ASTM B329-90, entitled; "Standard Test Method for Apparent Density of Powders of Refractory Metals and Compounds by the Scott Volumeter", ASTM B215-90, entitled; "Standard Practices for Sampling Finished Lots of Metal Powders", and ASTM E826-85, entitled; "Standard Practice for Testing Homogeneity of Materials for the Development of Reference Materials"

(Application for copies of ASTM publications should be addressed to the American Society for Testing and Materials, 1916 Race Street, Philadelphia PA 19103)

NOTE: When using any of the above ASTM standards for procurements, the purchaser should select the preferred tests, options, and special inspection requirements as offered in ASTM B 777. Section 4. "Ordering Information". These requisites, along with the DOD Agency's selected supplementary tests, options and requirements, shall then be included in the procurement documents with justification only on the basis of need.
