TIER I ADOPTION NOTICE

Open Universal Domain Description Language (UDDL) Ed. 1.1 (OPENUDDL-ED.1.1) was adopted on (01 May 2023) for use by the Department of War (DoW). Proposed changes by DoW activities must be submitted through the FACE™ Problem Report and Change Request Ticketing System (link: https://ticketing.facesoftware.org/). To submit any requests in the ticketing system, users must first create an account. Ticket submission is open to members and non- members of The Open Group FACE® Consortium, but individuals with change requests or future considerations are encouraged to become members of the FACE Consortium. Information regarding this technical standard may be obtained electronically from https://publications.opengroup.org/c231. To gain access to this technical standard, users must create an account with The Open Group, but do not need to be FACE Consortium members.

The Open Group FACE® Consortium is a Government and industry partnership, which also includes academia participation, to define an open avionics environment for all military airborne platform types. The FACE Consortium manages the Open Universal Domain Description Language (UDDL) technical standard, which defines a data modeling language that formally describes, queries, and communicates information. The Future Airborne Capability Environment (FACE™) technical standard extends the use of the Open Universal Domain Description Language technical standard to provide the FACE™ data architecture.
