PAGE 13

REQUIREMENTS, Qualification inspection, add the following

"At the request of the manufacturer, group C testing may be suspended with the qualifying activity's approval if it can be demonstrated that these test have been performed three consecutive times with zero failures. If the design, material, construction, or processing is changed or if there are any quality problems or failures, or at their discretion the qualifying activity may require resumption of the original testing requirement. Suspension of testing does not relieve the manufacturer from meeting the Group C test requirements."
