Fed. Std. No. 72

NOVEMBER 16, 1954

FEDERAL STANDARD

SHOCKPROOF CABLE TERMINAL AND RECEPTACLE FOR USE ON X-RAY EQUIPMENT

Authority.—This standard is issued pursuant to the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, as amended, and its application to the purchase of commodities referred to herein is mandatory on all Federal agencies.

S1. Purpose and scope.—The purpose of this standard is the establishment of uniform dimensions for shockproof high-voltage cable terminals and receptacles as used in X-ray equipment to obtain interchangeability of shockproof X-ray tubes and shockproof cables. This standard applies to radiographic and fluoroscopic X-ray apparatus employing X-ray tubes connected to high-tension transformers by means of shockproof cables.

S2. Application.—This standard shall be used by reference in Government specifications and invitations for bids to insure that X-ray equipment covered by it and procured for use by the Government will have high-voltage shockproof cable terminals and receptacles of uniform dimensions and as it may be otherwise applicable, except where its use is impracticable in the procurement of replacement components for existing equipment.

S3. Dimensions.—The dimensions of standard shockproof cable terminals and receptacles shall be as indicated in figure 1.

S4. Changes.—When a Federal agency considers that a Federal Standard does not provide for its essential needs, written request for adding to or otherwise changing the standard, supported by adequate justification, shall be sent to the Administration. This justification shall explain wherein the standard does not provide for essential needs. The request shall be sent in duplicate to the General Services Administration, Federal Supply Service, Standards Division, Washington 25, D. C. The Administration will determine the appropriate action to be taken and will notify the agency.

Single copies of this standard are available without charge at the GSA Regional Offices in Boston, New York, Atlanta, Chicago, Kansas City, Mo., Dallas, Denver, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, and Washington, D. C. Additional copies may be purchased for 10 cents each from the General Services Administration, Business Service Center, Region 3, Seventh and D Streets SW., Washington 25, D. C.
