1. SCOPE

1.1 Purpose. The purpose of this standard is to:

a. Provide contractors, Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEM's), program offices and the acquiring activity with a substitution list between existing source or specification control drawing (SCD) numbers and standardized military drawing and military specification numbers covering microcircuits used in military applications.

b. Control and minimize the variety of microcircuits used by military activities in order to facilitate effective logistic support of equipment in the field.

1.2 Scope. This standard establishes a substitution list for microcircuits used in the manufacture and support of military equipment. This document reflects the OEM's and the Department of Defense's (DoD's) determination of substitutability and may be used on production contracts, follow-on contracts, production modifications, logistic support, etc., after parts control procedures (if required) have been followed. The standard military devices, JAN and SMD, listed herein are declared to be substitutable with the corresponding existing contractor or OEM source or specification control drawing (SCD) and the corresponding generic numbers. Program offices and users substituting devices from this list are advised to have their engineering staffs ensure the substitution is appropriate to the specific system or piece of equipment. These organizations are responsible for device performance/reliability verification, and must assume production and operational risks resulting from the substitution.

4. GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

4.1 Substitution of standard microcircuits. Microcircuit device types shall be substituted by the corresponding standard military device as listed in table I. The presence of this information shall not be deemed as permitting substitution of generic-industry types, for MIL-M-38510 or standardized military drawing types, or as a waiver of any of the provisions in MIL-M-38510 and MIL-STD-883. The only devices that can be used as substitutes are the MIL-M-38510 devices or the standardized military drawing devices. Order of precedence shall be in accordance with requirement 64 of MIL-STD-454, and in no case shall downward substitution be permitted.

4.1.1 Table I - Source/specification control drawing (SCD) to military specification/standardized military drawing (SMD) - listed by generic number. Devices in table I are listed by generic number and cross-referenced by generic number to a corresponding source or specification control drawing (SCD), the CAGE number appearing on the SCD, the associated national stock number (NSN), and the substitutable military specification or standardized military drawing.

4.1.2 Table II - Source/specification control drawing (SCD) to military specification/standardized military drawing (SMD) - listed by CAGE number. Devices in table II are listed by CAGE number and generic number within each CAGE number and are cross-referenced to a corresponding source or specification control drawing (SCD), the associated national stock number (NSN), and the substitutable military specification or standardized military drawing number.

4.1.3 Table III - Source/specification control drawing (SCD) to military specification/standardized military drawing (SMD) - listed by NSN number. Devices in table III are listed by NSN and cross-referenced to a corresponding source or specification control drawing (SCD), the CAGE number appearing on the SCD, and the substitutable military specification or standardized military drawing number.

* 4.1.4 Table IV - Source/specification control drawing (SCD) to military specification/standardized military drawing (SMD) - listed by SCD. Devices in table IV are listed by SCD number and are cross-referenced to the CAGE number appearing on the SCD, the associated generic number, the associated NSN, and the substitutable military specification or standardized military drawing number.

* 4.2 Substitution of MIL-M-38510 part or identifying number's (PIN). Table V contains the PIN substitution information to support the one part - one part number system (see MIL-M-38510). For devices specified in existing associated military detail specifications dated prior to 27 July 1990 the new PINs can be used in lieu of the old PINs (see table V).

* 4.3 Supersession of SMD PINs by one part - one part number SMD PINs. Table VI identifies SMD PINs that have been superseded by one part - one part number SMDs where multiple device classes were needed for preexisting SMDs.

* 4.4 Lead finish designator. For Government logistics support the A lead finish will be ordered and supplied to the end user when X is used in place of the A, B, or C lead finish designator. If the device type is not available with lead finish A, the same part number will be ordered except that B or C will be used as the lead finish designator depending upon which is available.
