A-A-409
October 16, 1981

COMMERCIAL ITEM DESCRIPTION

STAPLE REMOVER, OFFICE TYPE

The General Services Administration has authorized the use of this commercial item description in preference to Federal Specification GG-S-746.

This description covers a tweezer-type office staple remover.

Salient characteristics:

The staple remover's jaws shall be metal with a bright finish to resist corrosion in accordance with com practice and kept separated by a coil or leaf spring of adequate tension.

Finger grips shall be plastic and have rounded edges.

The opening between the jaws shall be 5/32 inch, plus or minus 1/16 inch. Finger grips shall be not les 1/4 inches across grip portion and formed in a manner that will enable a user to grasp the tool com and safely. Overall length shall be not less than 2 inches.

The staple remover shall extract standard duty staples from paper by unclenching the staple to a poin the staple is removed without tearing the paper between the two holes.

The staple remover shall be identified with the name of the manufacturer or his trademark.

Workmanship. The staple remover shall be free from defects that may affect its performance, servic and appearance.

Certification. The contractor shall certify that the product offered meets the salient characteristics description and that the product conforms to the producer's own drawings, specifications, standards, and assurance practices, and is the same product sold in the commercial marketplace. The Government reserves t to require proof of such conformance prior to first delivery and therafter as may be otherwise provided for ur provisions of the contract.

Regulatory requirements. The manufacturer shall utilize recovered materials to the maximum extent practica

Packaging, packing, and marking. Packaging, packing, and marking shall be as specified in the contract or orde

PREPARING ACTIVI

GSA-FSS

DOD has waived coordination interest.

FSC 7520

Source: https://assist.dla.mil -- Downloaded: 2026-10-26T08:07Z
Check the source to verify that this is the current version before use.